

Inspirational Leadership

Congress Centre,
University of Szeged, Hungary

26th August 2015

Facilitator: Alex Selwood

Introduction - “Inspirational Leadership”

The role of Leadership in the context of running a dental school is key, and forms a fundamental part of the academic and financial success of these establishments. Choosing to lead is at the heart of leadership success, and during this interactive and thought-provoking day, Alex Selwood will lead you through an understanding of the fundamentals of his proprietary ‘Inspirational Leadership’ model, helping you apply it to your challenges in your world. You will leave with some thought provoking ideas for action centred around your real world and your real challenges, allowing you to make some of the changes you seek to help you in your role as a leader back in the work place.

Your facilitator: Alex Selwood

Alex is an exceptional and passionate facilitator specialising in management skills training and business coaching. He has a proven track record of managing major development programmes, from board level to graduate entry, with market leading multinational clients, across a wide variety of business sectors. He has a unique, high energy and empathetic facilitation style. Alex is enormously stimulated by taking a group or an individual through a learning experience, and then seeing them behave differently to the benefit of themselves and their businesses. Satisfying his client’s people development needs is his key motivator. His previous commercial experience in the consumer goods industry is combined with a pragmatic approach to implementing new skills and processes in the workplace. His training and coaching programmes always make a significant difference to individuals and their organisations. Alex has previously facilitated sessions with the FEHDD, the most recent being in Riga in 2014.
